Artists recapture scenic view

Paint-off an annual event

By Keith Robinson
Staff Writer

Sitting, looking, capturing the essence of a landscape with a camera is one thing, but it's entirely different to recapture the same area with the use of water-colours, oils, pastels and acrylics.

On Saturday, 20 artists and members of the Society of Western Canadian Artists

It was a great time," said Donna Chamberland, an artist from Elk Point. "For some, this was their first introduction to this far north and east in the province. Many are excited and interested in returning to do more work. We may try to make this an annual event."

Artists from Mallaig, Cold Lake, Elk Point, Drayton Valley and Edmonton made the trek for the weekend. Although it was a paint-off, it wasn't competitive.

Referring to the scenery, Murray Allen, from Edmonton, says this is what he enjoys capturing.

"People and buildings are nice to do, but this is much more," said Allen, who has been an artist for 36 years.

"An opportunity like this allows more artists to be exposed through their work," said Chamberland.

These works will be on display at the Buckingham House Interpretive Centre from Aug. 7 to Sept. 7.

County News

Regional landfill commission put on hold

By Rhonda Noyce
Staff Writer

The Town of St. Paul and Town of Elk Point are taking a wait-and-see approach to the formation of a regional landfill commission. Elk Point is waiting to see what St. Paul decides and St. Paul is waiting to see what Alberta Environment decides.

During a meeting last week, the County of St. Paul came to the table with a council decision to proceed with the commission. However, St. Paul is still waiting on well monitoring and environmental testing of their existing landfill site.

"We will be discussing our long-term commitment at tonight's (July 27) meeting. In the short term, we would like to use the facility we have right now," Mayor John Trefanenko said Monday.

"If the monitoring well shows a positive site, then we would be prepared to discuss using our landfill as a regional landfill site."

The Town of St. Paul decided to build their existing site about 15 years ago after some municipalities turned down the request for a regional landfill at that time.

"We put quite a bit of money into our landfill. That's why we'd like to mileage out that infrastructure we paid for."

If the environmental testing shows the St. Paul landfill isn't viable, Trefanenko still contends that they want to fully utilize their site and then look at the possibility of joining a regional landfill system.

The Town of Elk Point agrees with the regional landfill system in principle, but as Mayor Ed Buck says, the cost may be too high if St. Paul isn't a partner.

"The Town of St. Paul is the largest urban municipality in the region ... And then we have to look at the distances each area has to travel to haul the waste," said Buck.

The Town and County of Smoky Lake are also considering the possibility of joining the regional landfill system. But even County of St. Paul Reeve Ray Danyluk said they will have to reconsider the regional landfill if St. Paul doesn't sign up.

"If St. Paul isn't in we will have to look at an entirely different concept for waste management because they are a major player," said Danyluk.

This is exactly why Elk Point is holding off on joining the regional landfill commission.

"We want to know what the hard costs are — what the government is picking up and what we are responsible for. If we join now and find out St. Paul isn't in, how are we going to support such a large project?" Buck questioned.

In order to get more answers for all the questions each municipality has, government representatives will be meeting with all the potential stakeholders on August 6.

Field of Dreams

Doug Bassett
Elk Point White Sox

The thrill of the victory. The agony of defeat. Provincial baseball at its best. The Strome Lakers became the 1998 midget 'A' provincials gold medal winners, defeating the hard hitting big team from Oyen in a semi-final game on Sunday morning, then went on to defeat the underdogs, the Ft. Sask Red Sox, who were not favored to even get out of their pool, but shocked Elk Point Sox Friday morning beating them by one run, and then went on to beat the heavy favored Edmonton Warriors in their exciting semi final, that was a 0 to 0 score for six innings with the Fort winning in the bottom of seventh 3 to 2.

Well, I know you're going to say. What happened to your Sox? You bragged about them so much all year. Did they choke? Well, I could write a whole book about excuses, but I'm sure the talk in the coffee shops this week will have all the answers. That's why baseball is such a great game, it's so hard to understand, so much strategy, and the same team never shows up to play every night.

Now, let's talk about some of the positive things that happened this past weekend. The weather was great for baseball, and even though it was certainly better than having rain all weekend. We did bring an estimated 400 customers into the town of Elk Point, that spent money in our restaurants and motels. We did have the best dressed team in provincials, with matching uniforms, hats and jackets for the whole team, including coaches and the bat boy. The opening ceremonies went off without a hitch, and even the flag at centre field that was laying flat decided to fly as Michell Friesen sang O'Canada. With the exception of our campgrounds, that no team wanted to use, and commented on its sad shape, and preferred to camp closer to the diamonds, we have the greatest facility around this area. The regulation major league diamond was in wonderful condition, the concession, gazebo, sound booth, dugouts and bleachers were just like the professionals.

This provincial tournament put Elk Point on the map as far as baseball is concerned and for years to come will be remembered by Baseball Alberta as one of the best tournaments ever hosted. The past president of Baseball Alberta, and tournament director Wally Footz, who has lots of pull down at the Baseball Alberta office commented that the facilities were top notch and that the tournament was so well run that we should apply to host again next year.

Thanks to all the Sox parents who helped out and making it possible. Special thanks to Michell Friesen for her wonderful singing, to Phil Sheplaw who threw the ceremonial first pitch and to Mayor Ed Buck. To Allen Warawa, Sylvia Ballas and Ron Croteau in the sound booth who kept everything entertaining. To the groundskeeper Melvin Brown for dragging the diamond after every game, Roger Harrison and Bob Matthews for marking the lines, to the 50/50's salesmen all day Friday, Saturday and on Sunday, to top salesman and assistant coach Marshall Moroziuk who made every pot over $100.00, to assistant coach Ron Ballas, who went to work every day at 3 am so he could make the games.

To Tammy Anderson and her husband Jeff, who not only coordinated the batboys, but looked after scorekeeping and groundskeeping for the games in St. Paul on Saturday. To the batboys, Travis and Shaden Anderson, Tylor and Dylan Loughran, Nicky Myshaniuk, Jordan Krankowski, who did an excellent job, and were treated great, with the exception of one team, who I will not mention, but who were beaten in the semi finals after hammering the Sox Saturday night. It was a great experience that these young guys will remember forever and hopefully the day will come when they will play provincial ball themselves.

In the good old summer time!

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

"In the good old summer time..." — do you remember that song? Or do you remember the song: "Those Lazy, Hazy Days of Summer..." What about other summer songs such as "When My Blue Moon Turns to Gold Again?" The chorus of that song is: "When my blue moon turns to gold again, And the rainbow turns the clouds away; When my blue moon turns to gold again, You'll be back within my arms to stay," Yes, I know these are old songs — but they do describe summer time.

Isn't it nice that we have the season of summer with its special uniqueness. All the songs — the food — the fun — the activities, etc., etc.

Anyway, as I look at the calendar and realize we are now into the last week of July, I am wondering where did all of our summer days go? Summer is half over. To have the summer days go fast means we are all enjoying them, right?

Summer is such a nice time of year. We get to do things and go places all just because we want to! As well, it is family time which is an added plus. I know some of you have already taken your families on summer holidays to far away places with strange sounding names (Whoops — is that another song?). Anyway, as you were travelling, you probably heard the question, "Are we there yet?" Of course you were able to give the appropriate response — right! Then the weather is warm to hot or not so warm to hot.

Speaking of warm to hot summer weather, the other day as I was reading the July/August edition of "Reminisce," I came across some "Ads from the Old Days." It seems like we are always looking for some summer heat quenchers, so I thought I would share this neat recipe with you.

Frozen Kool-Aid Dessert

1 cup sugar
1 package (.13 oz.) Kool-Aid, any flavor
2 cups milk
1 cup whipping cream
In a bowl, combine the sugar, Kool-Aid and milk; stir until the sugar and Kool-Aid are dissolved. Pour into a freezer container. Freeze for one hour or until slushy. In a mixing bowl, beat cream until stiff. Add Kool-Aid mixture; mix just until combined. Return to the freezer container.

Freeze until solid, about 2 hours. Yield: 1 quart.

This recipe first appeared in a colorful 1949 Kool-Aid advertisement. Anyway — enjoy!

Water everywhere at Summer Reading Program

By Melissa Easthope
Elk Point Public Library

Water was coming everywhere from the Elk Point Public Library, as kids explored water games last week.

The Junior group showed how if they had their way, they would decorate the library windows. They also enjoyed a friendly competition of who could break the water balloon first. Then they all had their turn in running and sliding down our homemade slip and slide. What could be more fun?

The Senior group tried out their volleyball skills, and since we were discovering water games, they played volleyball with water balloons and towels. They also learned that Melissa is not always Mr. Nice Guy. I sure hope that I did not scare them off.

I hope that you will all come and join us this week for the world of Volleyball. I would also like to send Michele a big thank you for providing our snacks for the Summer

Reading Program, I know that the kids loved them.

This week's Trivia Question: Where did the Utah Jazz play before moving to Utah in 1979?

TIC Talk

By Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Centre Clerk

We have just passed the midway point of our tourist season and as we were compiling our statistics for the first half, we were not surprised to find that numbers are way down again this year. (At least they were way down until Friday when a big influx of ball players and their families showed up for the big Midget "A" Baseball Provincial Tournament.)

Other than a couple from Colorado and one person from Virginia, we haven't had any American visitors this year. But we have had people from right across Canada — from Vancouver, British Columbia to Sydney, Nova Scotia. And we had people from Germany and England.

Mainly tourists are looking for nice camping places — which we have in abundance and good fishing lakes — good lakes we have, the fishing ... well ... A few are just seeing the sights like the Fort George / Buckingham House Interpretive Centre, the museum, the mural and the walking trails. Occasionally someone asks after the golf course.

Mostly people come to Elk Point on purpose or are passing through on their way elsewhere — Lloydminster, Cold Lake, Fort McMurray or Edmonton. Now and then we find someone who is totally lost and wondering how they came to be in "this back-woods hell-hole" and wanting a "fast and easy way out". We try not to take comments like that personally and are happy to report the phrase heard most often is "Beautiful country around here!" Yeah. We know. It's a pity more people don't discover that.

Fish oil facts for your health

By Carmen Skrypichayko
Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

Incorporating more fish into your diet may help you have a healthier heart. Omega 3 fatty acids are a specific type of fat, which is abundant in fish oil. These fats have been shown to lower blood cholesterol and decrease the occurrence of blood clots, both factors that contribute to heart attack and stroke.

Much of the evidence was gathered from studying the North American Eskimo and Scandinavian populations who have a low rate of heart disease. It was found that these cultures have a high dietary fat intake but that most of that fat was from fish. Since then research has more clearly established the link between fish oil and prevention of heart disease.

So how much fish oil should we get? It is recommended that two to three 3 1/2 oz servings of fish per week may contain enough omega 3 fatty acids to help prevent heart disease without harmful side effects. Supplementation is not recommended. Cod, salmon, and halibut liver oil can contain very high levels of vitamins A and D which could build up in the body to a toxic level. Also, too much of these omega 3 fatty acids interfere with normal blood clotting which could result in excessive bleeding as a result of injury or surgery.

While all fish contain omega 3 fatty acids, salmon, sardines, mackerel and tuna are some of the best sources while fresh water fish such as pike or perch are not. It is important to remember that although these fats are heart healthy, they are a rich source of calories and over consumption can result in weight gain. Bake, poach and barbecue your fish for low fat, tasty results.

Water smart tips for a safe summer

By the Lifesaving Society
Canada's Lifesaving Experts

"Drownings are foreseeable and therefore preventable," notes Barbara Kusyano, Chief Administration Officer of the Lifesaving Society. "These drownings are preventable if people would take some basic preventive measures to minimize risk."

Two out of every three Alberta drownings occur during the four months between May and August. Over half will happen on weekends.

The Lifesaving Society recommends five tips to prevent drownings this summer.

1. Choose it. Use it. Wear your lifejacket. Over 90% of drowning victims do not wear a lifejacket. With new colors and styles, lifejackets are much more attractive and comfortable than they used to be.

2. Don't drink and drive... your boat or personal water craft. Over 50% of drownings involve alcohol. The same rules for drinking and driving your car apply to your boat.

3. If you're not within arm's reach you've gone too far. Closely supervise your children near water. Toddlers 2 to 4 years of age have the highest drowning risk. Most of these deaths happen when the child is left alone and playing near water.

4. Protect your neck. Diving into shallow water can shatter lives. Over 30 young men are paralyzed each year in Canada as a result of striking the bottom or some submerged object. In addition, another 15 to 20 die from broken necks.

5. Drive your boat responsibly. Most boating fatalities involve power boats (75%). Keep low to avoid capsizing or falling overboard. Take a boater education cost.

The Lifesaving Society, Canada's lifeguarding expert, reports annually on water-related injuries and deaths. The society is a national charitable organization working to prevent drowning through its training programs, public education and aquatic safety management services. Last year the Society certified 200,000 Canadians in its lifesaving, lifeguard and leadership courses.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Michele goes beachside, Karina's in charge

By Karina Mitchell
Librarian

It is official. Michele is on Bahamian time and I'm in charge. Now the big test to see if I actually paid attention during training. Let's see, am I supposed to stamp the card and keep the book? Or do I keep the Library card after the book has been signed out? Maybe I can phone Michele. Maybe I can visit Michele!

Michele has promised to send us postcards so we can all be thoroughly envious of her 'beach side' job. She is looking forward to starting her new job and all the challenges that come with it. I wish her well in this adventure.

But the Library does go on. The summer reading program is a wonderful success with Melissa having tons of fun with the kids each week. There are the Friday matinees that happen all summer. And of course there are always new books to check out:

In our Adult Fiction, you can read about Corran Horn. He leaves his training at the Jedi Academy in order to find his wife, who disappeared on a covert mission, and finds himself faced with a terrible choice — whether or not to surrender to the dark side in I, Jedi by Michael A. Stackpole. A Star Wars book.

When Mercy Brown discovers her late Aunt Ginger's diaries — packed with early Canadian dance history and a painful past — she realizes that she has two mysteries to sort out. So Mercy takes her dog Sadie along on a writing assignment up the Alaska Highway to solve the mysteries in Alaska Highway Two-Step by Caroline Woodward.

A tough, aggressive football star finds himself reconsidering the meaning of friendship and the importance of family after his grandfather's stroke and through his relationship with a Quaker boy in Crash by Jerry Spinelli. A nominee for the 1999 Young Reader's Choice Award.

Janet Howell is throwing the biggest party of the year, making her the most popular girl in school. However, she has also become the biggest pain, targeting everyone with her cruel jokes and vicious remarks. Will the twins be brave enough to stand up to her in Down With Queen Janet!

Or check out our picture books: Howard's mother tells him there is no such thing as a monster and certainly no such thing as a monster under the bed. Monster's mother tells him there is no such thing as a boy and certainly no such thing as a boy on top of the bed. Howard and Monster find out differently in No Such Thing by Jackie French Koller with pictures by Besty Lewin.

LIBRARY CALENDAR:

Fridays, July and August, 1:00 p.m. — Friday afternoon matinees. On July 31 we will be showing Hercules and Xena: the Animated Movie

Tuesdays and Thursdays, July and August, 1:30 p.m. — Take Me Out to the Library summer reading program

...AND SHE'S NOT GOING ALONE! Michele received some real Canadian wildlife -- a moose and a beaver -- to take along to the tropics.

Tuesday, July 28, 10:00 a.m. — Queen Storyteller in the Mural Park. Everyone is invited to attend.

Wednesday, August 13, evening — Friends of the Library have a bingo in St. Paul Workers can sign up at the library.

IN MEMORIAM

ROSYCHUK, John

In loving memory of our Father, Grand and Great-Grandpa, who passed away on July 28, 1997.

The rolling streams of life roll on,
But still the vacant chair

Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.

Fondly remembered and greatly missed by children, grandchildren and great-granddaughters.

treated great, with the exception of one team, who I will not mention, but who were beaten in the semi finals after hammering the Sox Saturday night. It was a great experience that these young guys will remember forever and hopefully the day will come when they will play provincial ball themselves.

And to my lovely wife Donna, who never ceases to amaze me with her talent and patience. She kept the concession stocked with supplies and workers, and built the programs at the last minute with my family showing up from all over the country and invading our house.

And last of all, to my players who have given me total dedication for the last six weeks, while their friends were out getting wasted, giving up their weekends, meeting my curfew on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. I'm very proud of these boys no matter what anyone else may think of them. How can you criticize a team that made it into the provincial final in third place overall.

Three of my veterans I am sad to say will be too old to play next year, and it has been great having them on the team for the last five years. Tyson Ballas, Tylor Warawa and Shaun Morozuk are all competitors, great kids from good families, and I know that some day they will have kids of their own and will coach them to be good ball players. As for myself, I now know for sure that dreams can come true. If you build it, they will come.
